

Windows Security Vulnerability

CITRA realizes the necessity to download the latest Microsoft-issued updates to remedy a recently discovered security vulnerability in CryptoAPI, which enables the hacker to tamper with the authenticity of the ECC encryption certificate. This prevents the checking of unwanted or malicious programs by operating deceptively as reliable programs.

This vulnerability targets at Windows10, Windows server 2016 & 2019 users.